BUTCHERING

The man who has always lived in the city, can know little of what we call "butchering days" around Bakes. The first thing that probably strikes the country-folk is that there is a nasty business of slaughtering animals. He will take his across the city market counter! He might not have the nerve to see one through if he can't stand even what another might find so well and happily, while the positions for which they are fitted are likewise ineptly filled. ## FULLER'S FULMINATIONS

November 11th, 1918, was probably the happiest day in all the long annals of humanity. Almost the whole of mankind rejoiced and sent up prayers of praise to a divine Providence for the return of peace. In my 36 years I have never before or since witnessed such genuine joy and enthusiastic ecstasy on the part of everybody as I witnessed and heard on that unforgettable day, 23 years ago. With half the earth now engulfed in a murderous madman of an other world war, infinitely more brutal and bloody than the one that, 23 years ago, and on our own beloved America about to be drawn in it is not fitting and proper that we should rejoice today as we did on November 11th, 1918. It is difficult and puzzling to say just how this anniversary should be observed. Who can say how we should observe the anniversary of a victory that obtained for mankind the end of the things that it was claimed would result? Fear of the things that were said and done during the first 20 years after the first World War ended can be appropriately said and done on this 23rd anniversary. Since, however, blood, brutality and bloodthirsty legions on Poland, September 1st, 1939, it has been apparent to everybody that the victory of November 11, 1918, was only temporary—that it did not achieve the great goals that surrounded the Wilsonian first World War was waged for. It may be of some service on this anniversary to try to point longer a dreaded financial hazard to drive a well where oil may be found.

Whether or not Brown is right, it is evident that many others concur with his belief, for oil companies have leased millions of acres of land in Florida for speculative purposes and lately the water rights for oil property have been leased by the government.—Orlando Sentinel.

BECOMING USELESS

Many newspapers, including the News, have long discontinued the use of "Mr." when using a man's full name. Just what does "Mr." mean any more? Newspapers have dropped it because it seems to add no meaning to the name and because it saves that much type-setting and space. In the South, the title "Mr." is given more meaning than elsewhere in the country. A man is usually referred to here as "Mr. Smith" or "Charlie." We seldom call him "Smith" to his face, at least, since it seems to indicate a slight disrespect. The use of the first name among men is much more common in the South than in other parts of the country.

Throughout this country, the calling of men by their last name, only, is generally considered no disrespect. In colleges and universities from the Pacific to the Atlantic, this usage has been common, and is being used even more than the first name. The English make little use of "Mr.", the title there being reserved for strangers, superiors and sometimes for inferiors.

In a streamlined age of efficiency, "Mr." is most likely to join the ranks of other obsolete terms in the process of language evolution.—L. H. C. in Delray News.

"INCOMPLETE PASSES"

We heard one of the best sermons in many months the other day in a local pulpit. Perhaps not everyone who heard it thought it was outstanding, but we heard it and we thought it was a mighty good sermon we heard today.

The pastor traced the history of missionary work for the past few years, pointing out that during the so-called "depression" Americans gave more for missions than they gave during the "boom" or the twenties.

He didn't come right out and say it, but he suggested that the present world mess may be due to the fact that back there when we in America were in a position to really do something but we fell down on the job.

Bringing his message down to earth, the preacher likened the church to a football team. "We need to organize ourselves into a team and we're using every possible means to do the job before us."

Continuing, he charged that "there are too many incomplete passes in our prayers," and suggested that church people go well beyond the usual prayer to prayer in these times.

The speaker recalled that during World War I, after the American boys had been sent overseas, the church and the government was started to set aside a certain day for concerted prayer. People prayed all night long in many cases, he said. "From that time on the enemy never made a single mistake," he said.

The pastor summed up with the statement that "if we have more complete prayer on the part of the people in bringing this awful war to an end than anything else under the sun."

Surely there is food for thought in the words of this man of God. Why not start using the power of united prayer right now! —Kissimmee Gazette.

the cause for the failure of that victory of 1918. I don't think any fair-minded and informed person will deny that the refusal of the United States to enter the League of Nations and thereby create a strong international police force, made possible the rise to power of the two international gangsters, Hitler and Mussolini. And, likewise, I don't think any fair-minded and informed person will deny that the United States was kept out of the League of Nations largely through the influence of the manufacturers, and filibustering of a little group of reactionary, provincial, narrow-minded, self-seeking United States Senators—mostly Republicans. E. g.: Borah, Lodge, Johnson.

But for the obstructive tactics of this little group of Senators, the United States would very likely have joined the League of Nations and thereby created a strong international police authority capable of suppressing brutal brigades like Hitler and Mussolini the midges.

But for the more or less able and useless to lament the failures and mistakes of the past. We should use reason that these modern-day mistakes when this present war is won, and the victors gather around the conference table in an effort to fashion a just and lasting peace.

We should try to realize that an isolationist is more insane than a foreigner, and that the United States is more isolated, every outpost of the entire world is in a state of range of a bomber or a battleship.

And our America is even less isolated than most of the remainder of the world. It is impossible to be so far from the Atlantic and the Pacific by water, and from Central Europe and Asia by land.

If we Americans expect to escape Hitler's firing squads, his concentration camps, and his planned starvation for conquered countries, we must continue our armament program, until every mile of our coast bristles with the heaviest artillery, our seas are roiled with submarines, and our skies darkened with dive bombers.

One-Way Mileage For Deputies

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 13.—Attorney General Tom Watson ruled today that deputies and sheriffs are not entitled to mileage fees for the trip home after a prisoner is taken to another county where the warrant for arrest was issued.

The arresting officer, Watson said, is entitled only to the legal fee of 12½¢ a mile for himself and the same amount for the prisoner from the point of arrest to the county seat in which the warrant was issued.

In an opinion given to State Auditor Bryan Willis, the attorney general also said that a sheriff can go into another county to take custody of a prisoner arrested on a warrant issued in his county, but the arresting officer may not charge mileage for the trip.

State C. of C. To Have Anniversary

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 13.—The state chapter of commerce, which came into being in 1916, is about to stage a celebration of its silver anniversary, otherwise its twenty-fifth birthday, at its annual convention which will be held in Panama City December 1 and 2 next.

Executive Vice-President Harold Cole, of the organization, is working his research department over the membership records of the state of Florida has prospered mightily during the quarter of a century the state chapter of commerce has been functioning. The state hotel commission contribute the following to the symposium as one of the best and most convincing evidence that Florida has grown and continues to grow:

In 1916, the year the state chapter of commerce was "born," there were in all Florida, from Pensacola to Key West, up and down both coasts, through the middle, a total of 1,745 hotels, apartment houses, rooming houses, boarding houses and eating places of all kinds as reported by State Commissioner A. L. Messer. The report carries no details as to the number of patrons which might be served by the restaurants.

This year 1941—25 years later, of November 1, there are 1,752 hotels with 90,149 rooms, 7,990 apartment houses with 67,740 units, 16,687 rooming houses with 11,687 rooming houses with 95,353 rooms, a grand total of 354,671 rooms, to say nothing of the thousands of rooms to be found in private houses which take "paying guests" and in the motor courts and the motor hotels which are scattered over the state.

As for eating places, ranging from the six restaurants and hotel dining rooms in the great resort centers, to the lowliest hot dog and hamburger stands and lunch counters in the cities and towns but along the rural roadsides the state hotel commissioner's office shows that more than 11,000 of them have grown during the past 25 years. Those eating places could seat 302,000 patrons at a single sitting if the accommodations of patrons should decide that they all wanted to eat at the same time.

Those figures certainly prove that Florida has grown during the past 25 years," commented Hotel Commissioner Johnnie, as he passed the resolution on Mr. Cole. "And it continues to grow as evidenced by the number of permits for new hotels, apartment and rooming houses and the restaurants passed upon by the state hotel commission architects almost every day."

With their warm welcome and kind and friendly manner, the royal couple put the girls at ease. "And how is my friend Mr. Pope?" questioned the Duke. "Oh, he is coming to Sebring," he replied. "I see, he had to stay at the garden and entertain a group of garden club ladies."

"Do you know Dick Pope?" queried Martha in amazement. "I never had the pleasure of meeting him," his royal highness replied. "But I know his wonderful flowers and have heard so much about him from his devoted friend, Mrs. Carter."

Conversation then turned to Florida, flowers, Nassau, and before anyone knew it the train was pulling into Sebring. Panicky the girls remembered their duty and explained that they had not expected to meet the royal couple. The train, but were supposed to present the flowers at Sebring.

"Of course, I understand," said the Duchess, handing the gorgeous bouquet back to Alice. By this time the train had come to a stop and several thousand people jammed about the back platform of the private car. Alice, her arms full of flowers, was nearest the door and stepped out with Martha close behind her, eager to get off the train and play their part in the Sebring ceremony.

The mob at the station, waiting to scream their welcome, took no time for identification and seemed the beautiful and charming girl emerge with her flowers, immediately assumed that she was the Duchess and the cry arose, "The Duchess, The Duchess!"

The band struck up "God Save the King." Poor Alice, embarrassed by tears, screamed back: "But I'm NOT the Duchess, I'm NOT the Duchess!" Eventually the mistake was discovered and the show went on as planned.

The royal Duchess, amused, comforted Alice and urged the girls to remain with them on the trip to Miami.

"Oh, she was wonderful—so gracious—so beautiful—so kind," said Alice in recounting her report to the girls. "No wonder the King renounced his throne," said Martha.

When you visit beautiful Cypress Gardens, see Martha and Alice tell you all about it in their own words.

Don McCarty To Seek Senate Seat

CAMP BLANCK, Oct. 20 (FNS)—First Lieut. Dan McCarty of Ft. Pierce, Speaker of the House (the youngest in Florida's history) announced here this week that he would be a candidate for the State Senate next spring.

Now in military service, he made his announcement in conformity with a recent War Department ruling which said that reserve officers, upon receiving official permission through their command, may leave the service to run for public office. He received such permission from Brig. Gen. T. Wyche.

McCarty, who is a citrus grower and cattle raiser, said he would run from the third district, which is composed of St. Lucie, Okeechobee, and Martin counties. O. A. Kanner formerly was senator from this district but resigned during the last legislative session to accept a circuit judgeship.

McCarty is a graduate of the University of Florida. In 1926 he was elected to the House from St. Lucie county and in 1928 was re-elected without opposition. Elected again in 1930, he was chosen Speaker of the House.

He is 30 years old and is married.

But to rural America there is an appreciation of the word of butchering days, since it means preparation of food for family and sale, a provider for days ahead. With the butchering friends come far and near to help, then men to kill and the women to cook. They try a hand at solving national problems outside while the women pursue their many housewife topics inside. It won't be long before the state will be called up to pay that $50,000 reward to the first party who finds oil in commercial quantities. That's the opinion of Lloyd Brown, oil drilling expert with the Gulf Oil company, who is now in Lakeland, Leesburg.

Mr. Brown ought to know, for he has been eating oil land for the past 30 years. He has many sections of oil land in Louisiana and in Denmark and Cuba. That he has found in Florida is a foregone conclusion with Lloyd Brown. His only concern is how long it will take to develop it, and what the quality will be after it is found.

He said that oil companies have invested more than $2,000,000 in instruments to locate magnetic forces and to photograph seismic waves in the earth. He said that he advanced so far, he asserted that it is no longer a dreaded financial hazard to drive a well where oil may be found.

Whether or not Brown is right, it is evident that many others concur with his view. It is not surprising that thousands of acres of land in Florida for speculative purposes and lately the water rights for oil property have been leased by the government.—Orlando Sentinel.

The prize Duke and Duchess of Windsor, story coming to my attention is the one that has to do with the unusual experience of two York county girls, who rival the story of Cinderella.

When it was learned that Edward and Wally, returning to Nassau, would pass through Sebring, this enterprising community got busy and planned a "royal greeting."

The crack high school band and several other bands, along with a band, had scheduled to meet the train and do honor to the royal couple. Of course there should be flowers to present, a great pile of them, so someone phoned Dick Pope at beautiful Cypress Gardens, asking if he would be good enough to fit up a bouquet of a bouquet to be presented during the ceremony.

Always willing to oblige, Dick Pope, and he never does things by halves, he arranged to have two of his most charming friends, a beautiful blonde and a southern belle, make the presentation.

Since the special "Silver Meteor" was scheduled to stop at a hotel at Winter Haven, Dick arranged with Sebring officials to place the two girls in the motor coach. (The "Gardenia Queen" and Miss Alice Bryan, "Carmella Queen," known as the most photographed girls in America about the time they so that they would be on hand to make the presentation during the ceremony planned at Sebring.)

The girls, of course, were thrilled to tears and as nervous as a couple of flies in a forest fire at the prospect of actually meeting the Duke and Duchess, even if only to courtsey and present a bouquet.

They had hardly settled in their seats before an immaculately dressed gentleman approached them, introduced himself as secretary to the Duke and Duchess, and asked that the Duke and Duchess were ready to see them.

There were to be some mistakes, said Martha timidly. "We just thought Mr. Pope sent the girls to Sebring." The gentleman smiled graciously and replied: "I understand that the Duke and Duchess wish to see you in their private cars."

Following their guide with quick limbs and thumping hearts, the two girls were ushered into the presence of the royal couple. They arrived to find the Duke and Wally all smiles and waiting to greet them.

With their warm welcome and gracious and friendly manner, the two girls were ushered into the presence of the royal couple. They arrived to find the Duke and Wally all smiles and waiting to greet them.

State C. of C. To Have Anniversary

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 12.—The state chamber of commerce, which came into being in 1916, is about to stage a celebration of its silver anniversary, otherwise its twenty-fifth birthday. Its annual convention which will be held in Panama City December 1 and 2 next. Executive Vice-President Harold Cole, of the organization, is working his research department over time gathering evidence that the state chamber of commerce has prospered mightily during the past quarter of a century. The state chamber of commerce has been functioning. The hotel commission contrived the following to the symposium of one of the best and most convincing evidences that Florida has advanced and continuing to grow.

In 1916, the state chamber of commerce was "born," there were in all Florida from Pensacola to Key West, up and down both coasts and through the middle a total of 1745 hotels, apartment houses, rooming houses, boarding houses and eating places of all kinds, as reported by State Hotel Commissioner L. Messer. The report carries no details as to the number of rooms available or the number of patrons which could be served by the restaurants.

This year—1941—25 years later as of November 1, there are 3752 hotels, 10,119 rooming houses, 7300 apartment houses with 67,740 units or 369,637 rooms; and 11,087 rooming houses, 9345 rooms, a grand total of 254,671 rooms, to say nothing of the thousands of rooms to be found in private homes, which, taking "paying guests" and in the motor courts and tourist camps which are scattered over the state.

As for eating places, ranging from five-cent restaurants and hotel dining rooms in the great resort centers to the lowliest hot dog and hamburger stands and lunch counters not only in the cities and towns, but along the rural roads, the state hotel commissioner's figures show that more than 11,000 of them have been licensed this year. These eating places, and seat 302,000 patrons at a single sitting if the aforementioned figures are correct, that they all wanted to eat at the same time.

"These figures certainly prove that Florida has grown during the past quarter of a century," commented State Commissioner Johnson, as he passed the compilation on to Mr. Cole. And it continues to grow as evidenced by the number of permits for new hotels, apartment and rooming houses and restaurants, issued up by the state hotel commission architects almost every day."

WJNO Gives Daily Weather Reports

WEST PALM BEACH, Nov. 12.—Official frost reports from the United States Weather Bureau at Lakeland have just been resumed and are being presented three times daily by radio station WJNO. West Palm Beach, as a part of its public service performance. For the benefit of Glades truck and vegetable farmers particularly, the official predictions describe weather changes anticipated in Florida, and also the territory served by WJNO.

The reports are aired at 6:45 a.m., Mondays through Saturdays, and at 8:00 a.m. on Sundays, 1:00 p.m., 4:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m., Mondays through Fridays; at 1:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m., Saturdays; and at 12:00 noon and 5:30 p.m. on Sundays.

In line with its policy of providing information of public value, the station will continue these reports throughout the period of frost or freeze danger, WJNO announced.

Don McCarty To Seek Senate Seat

CAMP BLANCK, Oct. 29.—F. M. McCarty, Don McCarty of Ft. Pierce, speaker of the House the youngest in Florida's history, announced today that he would be a candidate for the State Senate seat in the 1942 election. Now in military service, he made his announcement in conformity with a recent War Department ruling which said that reserve officers, upon receiving official permission through their commanding officers, would be allowed to run for public office. He received such permission from Brig. Gen. Ira T. Wyche.

McCarty, who is a citrus grower and cattle raiser, said he would run from the 33rd district, which is composed of St. Lucie, Okeechobee, Sevier, and Marion counties. O. A. Kanner formerly was senator from this district but resigned during the last legislative session to accept a circuit judgeship.

McCarty is a graduate of the University of Florida. In 1926 he was elected to the House from St. Lucie county and in 1933 was re-elected without opposition. Elected again in 1938, he was chosen Speaker of the House.

He is 36 years old and is married. His wife is Mrs. J. C. McCarty.

Slam Walter P. Fuller gives Jerry Carter an exceedingly slim chance in next year's campaign. Says Fuller: "The terrible shattering Senator Andrews gave him just about said the Carter political reputation as a campaigner."

The State Livestock Sanitary Board was notified by the big pet brand to spend $10,000 for the replacement of deer in counties where they deer were destroyed in the first year toward replacement.

FULLER'S FULMINATIONS by Fuller Warren

November 11th 1918 was probably the happiest day in all the long annals of humankind. About the whole of mankind rejoiced and sent up prayers of praise to a God who had delivered the world from the most terrible of all plagues. I have never before or since witnessed such genuine joy and unselfish exultation on the part of everybody as I saw and heard on that unforgettable day.

With half the earth now engulfed in a purifying firestorm of war, and the other half in a state of mental and bodily tension that ended 23 years ago, and our world was a scene of confusion and despair. It is difficult to imagine a day when we should observe the anniversary of a victory that obtained for mankind as we would "win" it. For the things that were said and done during the first 20 years after the first World War ended can be found in the "old and new" of this 23rd anniversary.

out the cause for the failure of that victory of 1918.

I don't think any fair-minded and informed person will deny that the refusal of the United States to enter the League of Nations and thereby create a strong international police force, made possible the rise to power of the two international gangsters, Hitler and Mussolini. And, likewise, I don't think any fair-minded and informed person will deny that the United States was kept out of the League of Nations largely through the machinations, misadventures, and intrigues of the reactionary, provincial, narrow-minded, self-seeking United States Senators—namely, Republicans.

Mr. Braden, Lodge, Johnson, and Big for the obstructive tactics of "this little band of wild men" who, in the United States, have joined the League of Nations and thereby created a world police authority, capable of suppressing brutal hordes like Hitler and Mussolini the midket.

But it is more a little side issue of when this world was created, and the victors gather around the conference table in an effort to reach a just and lasting peace. We should try to realize that the world is not more than a few years old in these modern times. The world is not more than a few years old in these modern times. The world is not more than a few years old in these modern times.

One-Way Mileage For Deputies

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 12.—Governor General Tom Watson, said today that he would not pay the trip home after a person to another county where he was called to duty.

The governor's office, Watson said, is not going to pay the trip home after a person to another county where he was called to duty.

In an opinion given to State Auditor Bryan Willis, the attorney general also said that a sheriff can go into another county to take custody of a prisoner arrested on a warrant issued in his county, but he will not be paid for the trip.

In another ruling Watson's opinion, the governor said that a sheriff can go into another county to take custody of a prisoner arrested on a warrant issued in his county, but he will not be paid for the trip.

DEFENSE FIRST!

Make defense against heat and friction your first thought when you buy motor oil. Buy Sinclair Opaline. Opaline contains no "5th Columnist" wax and petroleum jelly—non-lubricating substances that thin out in heat and cut down on oil's lubricating ability. Wax and petroleum jelly are removed from Opaline by an extra refining process. Play safe. Use Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil. It lasts so long it saves you money.

POLITICAL ONCE-OVER

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 13.—Florida's state wide primary less than six months away. A hot campaign is developing in two places on the Railroad Commission. Never before has there been so many candidates for these two berths. Candidate Eugene McArthur is opposed by Raymond J. Davis, Limestone former Con. henchman; Charles M. Stewart, Bradenton, and Buck Hancock, Madison, who tried to defeat McArthur once before. Jerry Carter is attracting the largest number of opponents. Against Jerry are Ed Swager, Clearwater; Dick Warren (brother of Fuller), Lake Butler; Sheriff W. T. Coleman, Sumter county; W. C. King, Zolfo Springs, and Harry Burch, Tallahassee. There may be many more.

Retirement of Justice J. B. Whitfield, 56 years on the bench and 50 years a state official, brought out two candidates as his successor. T. T. Turnbull, Railroad Commission attorney, announced shortly after Whitfield told Governor Holland he would resign in 1942. W. P. (Bill) Allen, former assistant attorney general, had already announced for this judicial plum. Those wishing to run for supreme court justice must qualify on or before February 1, 1942. No one has announced against Justices Terrell and Adams.

AT LARGE.—Congress at large contains more angles than politics can define, though there are only two candidates, Congressman Lex Green and State Legislator Ernest Overstreet. Miami supporters of Green are discounting Overstreet, while Overstreet's friends are discounting Green. The ability to get votes south of the mythical cross-state canal. Both are wrong. Overstreet is doing a good job of person to person campaigning, and is going to get lots of votes in north Florida, and Green, one of the state's best campaigners, is going to get votes in south Florida. Political angles in this race may be the deciding factor. Every potential gubernatorial candidate does not look with favor upon Green's at-large aspirations because they fear if he succeeds he will become a gubernatorial candidate in 1944. Senator Pepper's friends look upon Green's candidacy as a threat to Pepper in 1944. Add all that up and you find powerful opposition to Green—plus south Florida's possibly congealing its big vote behind a south Florida congressional candidate. Green's political situation is not a happy one, but don't overlook his campaigning ability.

STATE SENATORS.—Selection of 20 state senators instead of the usual 19, due to Judge A. O. Kanner's resignation, is taking shape. On this date it appears the Senate will have 20 members. There is little chance that President-designate Senator Philip Beall, Pensacola, will have opposition. No one appears on the horizon to oppose Senator Leroy Collins, Tallahassee. Senator S. D. Clark, Monticello, will probably get by without an opponent. Dan McCarthy, Ft. Pierce, appears a sure winner to succeed Kanner, possibly without opposition. Veteran house member Johnny Burke, Duval City, is slated to wear a senatorial toad, succeeding Senator Gideon. Senator Al Wilson, Quincy, may get by without opposition. If he does the vote in west Florida may be light, due to so many senators in that area without opposition, which isn't good for Turnbull in the supreme court race. Jerry Carter in the Railroad Commission race, or Lex Green in his campaign for Congress-at-large, may not be far off.

President pro tem Senator Dewey Dye, Bradenton, says, as will not seek re-election, and two have already announced for his seat. They are William Perry, house member from Sarasota, and Vasco Peoples, Punta Gorda. Graham Black, Jasper, is practically an announced candidate against Senator Stanley Adams. Veteran House member Barnberg Harrell says he will not seek re-election to the House from Hamilton, or run for Congress at large, but it is said he's looking at "upper" seats in the Senate. Several may seek the Senate seat of the late Fred Parker, Meco. Senator Bill Shands, Gainesville, who served the unexpired term of the late Senator Lucas Black, is up for re-election. For a recap he made Alachua county one of its best legislators and he may get by without opposition. Anything may happen in Alachua, where Senator Price is in for re-election and was anti-Bill land in the primaries. Senator Lindner, one of the most efficient men in the Senate, may or may not have opposition in the Cone county of Columbia, but probably will. In the meantime, if the amendment carries, there will be two new senators, one from Broward and the other from Bay or Gulf.

Senator Lonnie Folks, Ocala, says he will seek re-election and knows he will have opposition. Senator Pat Whitaker, Tampa, is destined for the hottest campaign of his career. But the political re-arguing of friends may cause him regret, if true, is that Senator J. Turner Butler may not seek re-election to the Senate. He is a member of the Legislature, in point of service. He has not said he will not seek re-election, but many of his friends may be wishing to retire. Little Joe Sears, Jr., is already out for the Duval seat in the Senate. R. C. Horne, Madison expects opposition, but Horne may run for Congress from the second district. Former Sheriff King, Ft. Myers, has already announced against Senator Elmer Ward. Dan Kelly, Jr., Fernandina, will seek re-election, but no opposition has developed against him, but there is plenty of time. Whether Senator Henry McKenzie, the second oldest member of Florida's legislature, in point of service, will have opposition is unknown. In 32 years, Henry McKenzie was defeated only once, and that was for tax collector.

Returning to the gubernatorial effect on Lex Green's candidacy, there is Senator Graham whose gubernatorial aspirations are generally believed certain, who will support Overstreet. States Attorney Rex Farris, Tampa, wants to run for governor, and naturally he and his friends will not look with favor upon Green's candidacy. If Governor, John B. Bostman, Palm Beach, Boyce Williams of Lake county, and Fuller Warren, Jacksonville, get into the race, there are five big counties who may frown upon Green. Francis Whitehair may try for governor again or for Senator Pepper's place in either event. Green's successful race for Congress wouldn't do Whitehair any good if he ran for either office. It is too late for Green to back down and there are four in his old district as there are four in his new one. He is too late for declaring he will run without regard to what Green does. Besides, there are a half dozen others who wish to run in Green's present district.

In addition to these state wide races, all members of the house are to be elected, as well as county commissioners and school board members, and many county officials due to vacancies by resignation and death. That adds up to a very heavy vote next May in the so-called off-year elections. Duty county could, if it half tried, cast one fifth of the entire primary vote, while state candidates who lead in Duval, Broward, Palm Beach, Polk, Pinellas, Hillsborough, Orange and Duval are certain of nomination.

Barge Canal Is Okehd By Group

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13. (FNS)—The House Rivers and Harbors committee this week voted to authorize Army engineers to dig a barge canal, instead of a ship canal, across Florida.

The authorization was contained in the bill for the omnibus bill on rivers and harbors.

House Committee Chairman Mansfield stated that the Florida waterway was in line with the bill without specifying specific type of construction. He said he understood that the barge canal, instead of a ship canal as originally planned would have cost approximately $200,000,000.

The authorized barge canal would follow the same course as the original ship canal. While authorization is given in the bill, no definite appropriation for the work has yet been made.

Press Group To Meet In Ocala

POLITICAL ONCE-OVER

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 13.—Florida's state wide primary is less than six months away. A hot campaign is developing in two places on the Railroad Commission. Never before has there been so many candidates for these two berths. Chairman Eugene McTigue is opposed by Raymond J. Davis, limestone former Commonwealthman; Charles M. Stewart, Bradenton, and Buck Hancock, Madison, who tried to defeat McTigue once before. Jerry Carter is attracting the largest number of opponents. Against Jerry are Ed. Sweger, Clearwater; Dick Warren (Sweeper of Fuller), Lake Butler; Sheriff W. T. Coleman, Sumter county; W. C. King, Zolfo Springs; and Harry Burch, Tallahassee. There may be many more.

Retirement of Justice J. B. Whitfield, 66 years on the bench and 56 years a state official, brought out 26 candidates as his successors. T. T. Turnbull, Railroad Commission attorney, announced shortly before February 1, 1942. No one had announced against Justice Terrell and Adams.

AT LARGE.—Congressmen at large contains more angles than politics can define, though there are only two candidates, Congressman Lex Green and State Legislator Ernest Overstreet, Miami. Supporters of Green are discounting Overstreet, while Overstreet's friends are discounting Green. In the meantime, the mythical cross-state canal, both are wrong. Overstreet is doing a good job of person-to-person campaigning, and is going to get lots of votes in north Florida, and Green, one of the state's best campaigners, is going to get votes in south Florida. Political angles in this race may be the deciding factor. Every potential gubernatorial candidate does not look with favor upon Green's at-large aspirations because they fear if he succeeds he will become a gubernatorial candidate in 1944. Senator Pepper's friends look upon Green's candidacy as a threat to Pepper in 1944. Add all that up and you find powerful opposition to Green. In south Florida, possibly concentrating his big vote behind in south Florida, congressional candidate, Green's political situation is not a happy one, but don't overlook his campaigning ability.

STATE SENATORS.—Selection of 20 state senators instead of the usual 18, due to Judge A. O. Kanter's resignation, is taking shape. On this date it appears that Ben-Amos Lewis, Marianna, may have opposition. There is little chance that President-designate Senator Philip Beall, Pensacola, will have opposition. No one appears on the horizon to oppose Senator Leroy Collins, Tallahassee. Senator S. D. Clark, Monticello, will probably get by without an opponent. Dan McCarthy, Ft. Pierce, appears a sure winner to succeed Kanter, possibly without opposition. Veteran house member Johnny Barker, Duval City, is slated to wear a senatorial toga, succeeding Senator Gileason. Senator Al Wilson, Quincy, may get by without opposition. If he does the vote in west Florida may be light, due to so many senators in that area without opposition, which isn't good for Turnbull in the supreme court race. Jerry Carter in the Railroad Commission race, or Lex Green in his campaign for Congress at large.

President pro-tem Senator Dewey Dye, Bradenton, says he will not seek re-election, and two have already announced for his seat. They are William Perry, house member from Sarasota, and Vasco Peoples, Duval City. Graham Black, Jasper, is practically an announced candidate against Senator Stanley Adams. Veterans House member Bamberg Harrell says he will not seek re-election in the House from Hamilton, or run for congress at large, but it is said he's looking at a jump seat in the Senate. Several may seek the Senate seat of the late Fred Derker, Mayo. Senator Bill Shands, Gainesville, who served the unexpired term of the late Senator Lucas Black, is up for re-election. For a rookie he made Alachua county one of its best legislators and he may get by without opposition. Anything may happen in Volusia, where Senator Price is up for re-election and was "out-lodged" in the primaries. Senator Lindner, one of the most efficient in the Senate, may or may not have opposition in the County of Columbia, but probably will. In the meantime, if the amendment carries, there will be two new senators, one from Broward and the other from Bay or Gulf.

Senator Lonnie Polka, Ocala, says he will seek re-election and he will have opposition. Senator Pat Whitaker, Tampa, is also slated for the hottest campaign of his career. But the political reform which caused much concern and regret, it turns out, is that Senator J. Turner Butler may not seek re-election, but he will be the oldest member of the Legislature, in point of service. He has not said he will not seek re-election, but many of his friends say he wishes to retire. Little Joe Sears, Jr., is already out for the Duval seat in the Senate. R. C. Hoyle, Marianna, expects opposition, but there may be no opposition from the second district. Former Sheriff King, Ft. Myers, has already announced against Senator Elmer Ward, Panola. Kelly, Jr., Fernandina, will seek re-election, but no opposition has developed against him, but there is plenty of time. Whether Senator Henry McKenzie, the second oldest member of Florida's Legislature, in point of service, will have opposition is unknown. In 32 years, Henry McKenzie was defeated only once, and that was for tax collector.

Returning to the gubernatorial effort on Lex Green's candidacy, there is Senator Graham whose gubernatorial aspirations are generally believed certain, who will support Overstreet. State Attorney Rex Farrior, Tampa, wants to run for governor, and naturally he and his friends will not look with favor upon Green's candidacy. If Jimmy Owens, John Beacham of Palm Beach, Boyce Williams of Lake County, and Fuller Warren, Jacksonville, get into the race, there are five big counties who may crown upon Green. Francis Whitehair may try for governor again, or for Senator Pepper's place, but in either event, Green's successful race for Congress wouldn't do Whitehair any good if he ran for either office. It is too late for Green to back down and run again in his old district as there are four named candidates, each of them declaring he will run without regard to what Green does. Besides, there are a half dozen others who wish to run in Green's present district.

In addition to these state wide races, all members of the house are to be elected, as well as county commissioners and school board members, and many county officials due to vacancies by resignation and death. That adds up to a very heavy vote next May in the so-called off-year elections. Duval county could if it half tried, cast one fifth of the entire primary vote, while state candidates who wish to run in Duval, Broward, Palm Beach, Polk, Pinellas, Hillsborough, Orange and Duval are certain of nomination.

Barge Canal Is Okehed By Group

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13. (FNS)—The House Rivers and Harbors committee this week voted to authorize Army engineers to dig a barge canal, instead of a ship canal, across Florida.

The authorization was contained in the billion dollar omnibus bill on rivers and harbors.

House Committee Chairman Mansfield stated that the Florida waterway was in the bill without specifying specific type of construction. He said he understood that the barge canal would cost about $25,000,000. The proposed ship canal as originally planned would have cost approximately $200,000,000.

The authorized barge canal would follow the same course as the original ship canal. Water authorization is given in the bill, no definite appropriation for the work has yet been made.

Press Group To Meet In Ocala

OCALA, Nov. 13. (FNS)—Horace Smith, secretary of the Marion county chamber of commerce, announced here today that all was in readiness for the entertainment of Florida's Fourth Estate which is scheduled to meet here Nov. 13, 14, 15, for the annual convention of the Florida Press association.

Several hundred editors and their ladies are expected to attend, and local arrangements provide for a noon luncheon, a banquet and dance.

Ray & Davidson of Silver Springs will hold open house for the scribbles at Silver Springs around the time of the convention, those desiring to take the various boat trips or visit other attractions will be guests of the management.

President Russell Kay of the Press association states that a full business program, including county reports and presentation of officers, has been arranged.

Streamline Jook Razed By Fire

Damage estimated by Fire Chief Sanders to be $11,000 was done by fire to the "Streamline," a negro jook and rooming house on the Muck City road at the outskirts of Pahokee early Tuesday. Another rooming house adjoining it was also burned before Chief Sanders and volunteer firemen could get the blaze under control. Firemen worked from 1:30 to 4 a. m. to keep the blaze from consuming other buildings in the area. "Doe," Fire Chief Sanders suffered a mangled hand and minor burns and an unidentified negro was painfully burned. The fire was caused by the explosion of a kerosene stove.

Bulletins Issued Daily By School

National Education Week has been celebrated in the Canal Point schools, according to an announcement made by Principal J. B. Cox. Daily bulletins were prepared in the school and one sent to each parent. The subjects covered were the same as those covered through the Canal Point schools. Mr. Cox reports that students and parents expressed interest in the daily releases.

Canal Point Boy Is Pleased With Navy

U. S. Naval Air Station Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 25, 1941. The Editor, Everglades News, Canal Point, Fla.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I have been reading the Navy papers with a great deal of interest. If you feel that the following letter is of interest to your readers, please feel free to publish it. It may result in great benefit to some worthy young men in our community.

Just about three months ago, on July 15th, to be exact, I made a decision to do my service to Uncle Sam. At the same time, I was equally determined to get into a branch of the service where I could be of use to my country.

You guessed it—I joined the Navy!

At the Naval Air Station in Jacksonville, Florida, under instruction for duty with Aviation Ground Crews.

I had no previous experience. Hundreds of Florida boys, inexperienced like myself, are here with me. The studies I am following are all parts of the aviation. I believe I am in position to understand and appreciate the problems peculiar to every section of Florida's "Aviation Service."

During his many years residence in the state, Senator Swager advocated and supported many of the progressive and forward-looking movements and has been active in civic as well as in public affairs. He has taken a prominent part in civic club and chamber of commerce work, having served as president of the Garden county chamber of commerce and as a director in the state chamber of commerce. He is past president of the Florida Farm Bureau.

As a state senator and member of the House Swager advocated and supported numerous progressive measures now on the state books, including old age pensions, workers' compensation, pensions for teachers and firemen, abolition of the poll tax, state road patrol, improvement in public health conditions, adequate appropriations for schools, colleges and state institutions, legalized racing, conservation of game and forest water, etc., and many other measures calculated to keep Florida on the forefront of progress and development.

Senator Swager is a member of the Episcopal church; is a member of the Kappa chapter, a Mason and Shriner; has a degree from the Delta Chi, professional journals, etc. He is married and has one son, Jack, an artillery cadet in the U. S. Army.

Davis Wants Job On R.R. Commission

Raymond J. Davis, prominent Hardee county citrus grower and farmer, yesterday announced formally he will seek nomination next spring as State Railroad Commissioner.

A native of Florida, Mr. Davis was born and reared near Lake City where he attended grammar and high school. He moved to Hardee county as a youth in 1903 and has since been a successful citrus producer and truck farmer. He also raises cattle on his farm at Leesville. He is a brother of W. W. Davis, sheriff of Columbia county.

For three years Mr. Davis worked in Washington as a clerk in the office of Congressman Herbert J. Drane. In addition his administrative experience included four years as Chief Deputy Motor Vehicle Commissioner of Florida and eight years as county commissioner in his home county.

Mr. Davis will run in Group Number One—South Florida. Mr. Davis contended, "should have representation on the Railroad Commission. This industry particularly along the coast is of great importance to be represented on this important body since it pays millions of dollars in freight charges each year."

"Each of the three present members of the commission is from North Florida."

"If I am elected I pledge myself to a vigorous fight to secure lower freight rates for citrus, truck crops and all other South Florida products," Mr. Davis declared.

Priority Ruling Controls Building

MIAMI, Nov. 13.—Advising prospective home builders, real estate developers, municipal fathers, and building contractors that recent priority rulings have curtailed extension of electric service lines, Harry E. Simpson, vice president of the Florida Power & Light company, yesterday urged that any one contemplating new building or material changes in his electric service requirements should confer with the company before starting construction.

"Home I on Hilper," Mr. Simpson commented, "but our country needs vast quantities of materials, such as copper, aluminum, zinc, and steel—in arm itself against the totalitarian threat. There are not enough of these materials to do the defense job and to keep other nations production functioning on normal peacetime scale. Therefore, we all got to make sacrifices in the primary interest of keeping our country free and preparing it to defend its freedom. Our government has asked us to economize on all materials and we are cooperating in every way possible."

Bob Swager After Jerry Carter's Job

CLEARWATER, Nov. 13.—R. L. (Bob) Swager, owner of The Clearwater News, visited Florida's largest paper publisher and for six years a member of the Florida Legislature, today announced his candidacy for the State Railroad Commissioner in the primaries next year.

In his announcement Mr. Swager cited his years of experience not only as a member of the Florida House of Representatives and the State Senate, but also as a member of Florida's first railway commission, as having qualified him to fill the office now occupied by Jerry W. Carter.

"Since the retirement of R. Hamilton Barr in 1927," Mr. Swager said, "South Florida has not elected a representative to the Florida state commission—a branch of government that vitally affects the state, woman and child in the home. The Railroad Commission, in fact, is a bureau that few voters understand or appreciate. Therefore, my purpose is to explain the functions of this commission and outline my vision how its powers can be broadened so as to make it a benefit to all citizens. It is a critical time when economic living costs are so important."

Having resided in North and West Florida prior to becoming a resident of Pinellas county and having first-hand knowledge of all parts of the state, Mr. Swager believes he is in position to understand and appreciate the problems peculiar to every section of Florida's "Aviation Service."

During his many years residence in the state, Senator Swager advocated and supported many of the progressive and forward-looking movements and has been active in civic as well as in public affairs. He has taken a prominent part in civic club and chamber of commerce work, having served as president of the Garden county chamber of commerce and as a director in the state chamber of commerce. He is past president of the Florida Farm Bureau.

As a state senator and member of the House Swager advocated and supported numerous progressive measures now on the state books, including old age pensions, workers' compensation, pensions for teachers and firemen, abolition of the poll tax, state road patrol, improvement in public health conditions, adequate appropriations for schools, colleges and state institutions, legalized racing, conservation of game and forest water, etc., and many other measures calculated to keep Florida on the forefront of progress and development.

Senator Swager is a member of the Episcopal church; is a member of the Kappa chapter, a Mason and Shriner; has a degree from the Delta Chi, professional journals, etc. He is married and has one son, Jack, an artillery cadet in the U. S. Army.

AT THE THEATRES

Rogues Palette and June Clyde in "Unfinished Business," playing at the Prince Theatre, Sunday and Monday, November 16 and 17, and at the Everglades Theatre Nov. 18.

A NEW COMEDY
Irene Dunne and Robert Montgomery are co-starring in "Unfinished Business," said to contain the most successful combination of comedy and drama which has characterized many of La Cava's screen hits.

Princeton Foster and Eugene Pallette head a supporting cast that includes Esther Dale, Walter Catlett, June Clyde, and others. Story from the screen play by Eugene Thackeray, presents Miss Dunne as a small-town girl who becomes a movie star in part of an operatic extravaganza. She meets and falls in love with Foster, who is amused but not enamored.

After Miss Dunne marries Montgomery, who plays a movie producer, her brother, a romantic comedian, comes along when the girl realized she still loved her other man. That's her "unfinished business." The hectic life which follows is interpreted when Montgomery plays in love with his wife.

"Title the Teller," a production for millions of fun-loving page fans, has many admirers and Max is not the least of them, even if he is the most diminutive. The picture will be shown at the Prince Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 19 and 20 and at the Everglades Theatre on Friday, November 21.

School Buses Are Crowded In Tampa

TAMPA, Nov. 13. (FNS)—A most deplorable condition was reported in Hillsborough county last week when county Traffic Chief Cooper found that school buses designed to carry only ninety pupils were carrying as high as 113, with kids crowded in like sardines in a can.

All safety regulations apparently were disregarded and because of the danger to the children Cooper brought the matter to public notice.

County school officials admitted over-crowding, but excused this as a matter of fact when the strawberry schools closed December 15, it would relieve over-crowding.

In one instance, Hillsborough children probably will be compelled to ride home and limb in jam-packed buses, despite appeals of parents and safety officials.

She's home again as the wife who loves her husband but can't read the fancies of other men. Anna Lee, the blond and beautiful English star, gives Ronald Colman (the husband) a little time in the seductive comedy, "My Life with Caroline," playing at the Prince Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 19 and 20 and at the Everglades Theatre on Friday, November 21.
